

Summary SSCF Example Website Data and Content

Resource Examples to use when creating/thinking about your designs:

The goal of the information is to describe how a Community Foundation can partner with charitable organizations to enhance their impact and ensure long-term sustainability.

Here's a breakdown:

- For Charities: The Community Foundation aims to help charities focus on their community impact by reducing their administrative burden and providing financial security.
- For Donors: The Community Foundation wants to make charitable giving easier and provide a trusted avenue for donors to support causes they care about.
- Overall: The Community Foundation positions itself as a facilitator and connector, working to build a stronger charitable sector and enrich community life

<https://sscf.ca/charities/partner-with-the-community-foundation/>

-At the bottom of this page there lots of resources within the “Not quite sure where to start?” section

The goal of this information is to describe the Community Foundation's efforts to understand and address community needs, and how they share this information to drive positive change.

Here's a breakdown:

- Understanding Community Needs: The Community Foundation uses tools like the Vital Signs program to gather data and identify the most pressing issues facing the community (e.g., affordable housing, food security, mental health).
- Sharing Information and Insights: They publish reports (like the Vital Signs reports and reports on the impact of COVID-19 on charities) and host community conversations to share their findings with the public, non-profit organizations, and other stakeholders.
- Driving Action and Collaboration: The goal is to use this information to inspire action, focus public debate, and help organizations and individuals direct resources to where they will have the greatest impact. They also facilitate conversations among non-profits to encourage collaboration and develop solutions to community challenges.

In essence, the Community Foundation aims to be a source of knowledge and a catalyst for positive change in the community.

<https://sscf.ca/vital-signs-reports/>

- There's some Vital Signs reports here that can be used

- In particular, “Regina's Non-Profit Voices: Addressing Funding Gaps”

Summary SSCF Example Website Data and Content

The goal of this information is to provide a comprehensive resource hub for various stakeholders of the South Saskatchewan Community Foundation.

Here's a breakdown:

- For Donors: To provide information and resources on how to make an impact through various giving options, including different types of funds and legacy planning.
- For Charities: To offer resources and information on how the foundation can assist them in achieving their goals, such as through agency matching programs and endowment incentives.
- For Professional Advisors: To equip them with the necessary information and tools to help their clients make informed decisions about charitable giving and related matters.
- For the General Public: To offer general information about the foundation and its work.

In essence, the foundation aims to be a central point of contact, providing accessible information and resources to anyone seeking to engage with or learn more about their services and initiatives. They also encourage communication and feedback through a "Talk To Us!" section.

<https://sscf.ca/information-sheets/>

- This one is split up according to audience (Donor, Charity, Professional Advisor) so some materials appear in multiple sections

- Some of these may not actually make it to the real hub, but can likely be used for the sake of this class

The goal of this information is to inform registered charities and qualified donees about grant opportunities available through the Community Foundation, and to outline the application process.

Here's a breakdown:

- Eligibility: To clarify the requirements for organizations to receive grants, emphasizing the need for registered charity status or a formal partnership with a charitable organization.
- Grant Opportunities: To provide details about specific grant funds, including their purposes, priority areas, and geographic focus.
- Application Process: While not detailed in this excerpt, the information implies that the Community Foundation manages the application process for these grants.

In essence, the Community Foundation aims to connect eligible organizations with funding opportunities that align with their charitable activities, thereby supporting their work in the community.

Sources and related content

<https://sscf.ca/grants/>

- The top 2 links and the "Non-Profit & Charity Partner Agreement" button