Website Use Feedback

To gather feedback on the website's usability and information architecture, please consider the following questions:

1. What information or features would you expect to find prominently displayed on the page that are not immediately visible at the top?

2. What information was difficult to locate, and how could improved descriptions or labeling enhance its discoverability?

3. What aspects of the page's design or functionality do you find promising or effective?

4. Can you locate information on Assets Under Administration funds?

5. Within this page, can you identify the grants that are currently accepting applications?

6. How easily and quickly were you able to find resources or tools related to grant writing and fundraising?

Additional Suggested Questions:

- Is the purpose of each page clear upon arrival?

- Is the navigation intuitive and easy to use?

- Are the calls to action clear and compelling?

- Does the visual design of the page support its content and purpose?
